NEW SKIRTS FOR 1865.
The Great Invention of the Age in
HOOP SKIRTS.
J. W. BRADLEY'S
NEW PATENT DUPLEX ELLIPHIC, (or double) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS Invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ngeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexable, elastic and double spring ever used. They seldom ever bend or break, like the single springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any single spring skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress.

A lady having enjoyed the Pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, Misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also double steel and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c., &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant corded tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

WEST' BRADLEY & CARY, (late J. I. & J. O. West,) Proprietors of the Invention, and Sole Manufacturers, 97 Chambers and 79 & 81 Reade Streets, New York.

For sale in all first class Stores in this city, and throughout the United States and Canadas, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America, and the West Indies.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 1, 1865.

FOR GOVERNOR
JONATHAN WORTH, OF RANDOLPH COUNTY.

☞ Attention is called to the list containing the names of the members of the South-Carolina Conference, which convenes in this town on Wednesday next, and the homes assigned them, published on the 4th page of this morning's TIMES.

We desire to see the State re-admitted to her former constitutional status at the earliest moment and consequently would do nothing to retard its consummation. The people should act cooly and considerately. State after State is wheeling into line and "keeping step to the music of the Union." The old ship with the proud motto, "e pluribus unum" streaming from her mast-head—with sails set and prow pointed, is making her way to the great harbor of safety. Mr. Johnson, her friend, who "sticketh closer than a brother," stands with outstretched arms ready to welcome her. Shall the Palinurus who stands at the helm be the one who by throwing her into the trough of the sea attempted to might and main to prevent. Mr. [illegible] going on so perilous a voyage? The question is, shall Jonathan Worth be placed at the helm of State—the man who resisted secession to the utmost and to the last extremity, or W. W. Holden, who was a secessionist and voted her out of the Union. Shall Worth, who tried to preserve the Constitution be elected, or Holden, who attempted to destroy it, by plunging us into a four years war? These are the questions the people will have to decide on the 9th inst. —Holden the secessionist, the man who in the Convention voted North Carolina out of the Union and into a ruinous war —or Jonathan Worth, the man who protested against the whole measure from first to last? Mr. Holden by his vote as a member of the Convention is responsible for all the ruin, desolation and misery which has afflicted our unhappy country for the last four years. For that vote was the beginning of the "Iliad of our woes." While we are free to say Mr. Worth is not our choice, we can no longer hesitate between the two. We had hoped that Gov. Graham would have been in the field, but as we cannot be gratified, we unhesitatingly declare for Mr. Worth, and to-day place his name at the head of our columns. There are many reasons for our preference—for we think his record and claims are beyond comparison, but we are constrained to participate more actively in the canvas than we intended, by the course which the Standard has seen proper to pursue.

We are neither to be bullied nor intimidated into the support of any man—and if we cannot have a free choice, then we do not desire to see an election. And, besides, we are thoroughly Andrew Johnson in our feelings. We admire him profoundly. He has taken a position which raises him in our estimation to the pinacle of human greatness, and stamp him unquestionably as the foremost statesman of the age. The assurance then on the part of the Standard, that our support of Mr. Worth will change Mr. Johnson's policy towards North Carolina, is a reflection on that great man's principles and character that calls for an indignant rebuke from ALL of his admirers. That Mr. Johnson will be offended with the freemen of this State, for exercising a constitutional right—the right to the exercise of the elective franchise—is an insult to him, to which we, as his friends, cannot tamely submit. Mr. Johnson has signalized his devotion to constitutional rights in every act of his political life—and now to assert that he will blot out his record, to revenge himself upon a people for doing that which his every effort is made, to have accorded to us is monstrous.

This species of electioneering is as unparaleled as it is destructive to all the nobler instincts of our nature, and like a two-edged sword wielded by unskilful hands, cuts both ways.

The election of Mr. Worth will be hailed by the North as a proof of our loyalty and manhood—will satisfy them of our sincerity, and go far to remove all obstacles to our cordial reception. If we now elect Mr. Holden, the Republicans will say we did it from intimidation—that our only object was to deceive them, and they will feel distrust of, and contempt for us. Then will we have to drink the cup of humiliation to the dregs. Property gone—destruction and ruin overspreading the land—manhood crushed out—we will drag out the rest of our miserable existence upon our bellies, and lick the dust of the earth.

Col. Samuel H. Walkup.

Yesterday we stated that this gentleman had been announced as a candidate for Congress, from this District. It is due to him, that, as the time is too short for him to see and converse with his fellow-citizens, that we, at his request, who are his friends, should briefly state his positions.

Colonel S. H. Walkup, before the war was a Henry Clay Whig—and a firm and consistent Union man. Both in private and public life, when it was unpopular as well as when it was popular, he took grounds in favor of perpetuating the institutions of the country as they then existed. While a devoted Union man, he was never recreant to the duties which he as a son owed to his beloved South.

He was a member of that Legislature which called the Convention that voted the State out. He resisted the movement in every shape and form in which it was presented. He bravely and boldly proclaimed his anti-secession sentiments, and predicted the fearful consequences which would follow. His record is, in that particular, without blot or blemish—for he had resisted the doctrine of secession during the whole public life. We point to the journals of the Legislature for 1860–61 in proof of what we have here written; and we defy any man, not only in the South but in this broad land, to show a better or more consistent Union record up to this time than Col. Walkup. At the very time Mr. Holden and others were, by an ordinance passed on the 20th of May, 1861, precipitating the State into a disastrous, ruinous and bloody war, Mr. Walkup was using his influence to stay the hands that were tearing down the fabric erected by Washington, and cemented by the best blood of the first revolution. All that man could do to save the country he did.

But when Mr. W. W. Holden and others had done the deed which "meant war," and the issue they tendered had been accepted by the North, Col. Walkup, with the chivalry of an exalted nature, stood out as one of the defenders of his country's homes, her altars, and her fires. He was in no way responsible for the struggle. It had been brought about contrary to his wishes, his advice, and against his most earnest protestations—for he loved the Union and Constitution of our fathers—but he could not stand quietly by, and see his section over run without sharing the fate of his friends—and when he did join the Confederate army, he did it with his whole soul, and many a bloody battle-field attest his gallantry and devotion.

While some others were indulging in the luxuries of home, or piling up money made in speculation off the widows and orphans of her heroic defenders, Col. Walkup was luxuriating on "Virginia garlic and pepper tea."

The war is now over and peace has once more thrown her silver sheen and resumed her gentle sway over a prostrate and nearly ruined people. Col. Walkup has taken the oaths of allegiance and amnesty—and any one who knows him, knows that he took them in good faith and with the resolution to abide by them. He is as loyal a citizen as lives in the United States, and as firm a supporter of President Johnson's reconstruction policy as Mr. Holden himself. He has ability, firmness of character, and lofty patriotism, and if elected, will perform his whole duty to his people and the country at large. He has had considerable experience in legislative life, and will be a useful and influential member. As a personal friend of long standing, one intimately acquainted personally and politically with Col. Walkup, we have thought thus much was due him.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Letter from Cabarrus.

CONCORD, Oct. 31st, 1865.

MR. EDITOR.—It is a melancholy duty to announce the sudden demise of our aged and highly respected fellow-citizen, Mr. George Fink. He had been laboring in his field during the day, in the enjoyment of his usual good health; and after supper seated himself by the fire, and soon fell into what appeared to be a gentle doze. When the hour for retiring had arrived, an attempt was made to awaken him, when it was discovered that he was already rigid in death. His family have the sincere condolence of the numerous friends of the deceased.

Dr. Ramsay addressed the citizens of this place on last Friday. He is a very intelligent man, and would make, perhaps, a good Representative, but he is not a popular harmonizer. He is perfectly sound on the negro and gubernatorial questions—opposed to negro suffrage, and in favor of Worth for Governor. He strikes the popular current in both instances. Holden stock is at a low price here. In fact, considerable indignation has been aroused in consequence of the miserable imposition which that filthiest of all sheets, the Raleigh Standard, is endeavoring, with unblushing effrontery, to palm off on the people, in order to secure the election of Holden, the father of the editor of the aforesaid sheet. It is a universal sentiment, which I have heard expressed with considerable emotion, that if we cannot take our wonted position in the Union, upon the same footing with other States, in the enjoyment of the privilege of choosing whom we please for Governor, &c., we are perfectly willing to remain in a territorial relation to the Government for all time to come.

Col. John S. Long has been brought upon the turf by his numerous friends to represent them in the Legislature. He is the man for the times. No opposition has yet been announced.

Yours, &c.,
W.

A FREE CHOICE.—We have reason to believe from President Johnson's liberal policy pursued hitherto, that he desires the loyal people of North Carolina, to make a free choice in the approaching elections for Governor, members of Congress, &c. We have an instance in Mississippi, where Judge Fisher was the administration candidate, and the choice of Provisional Governor Sharkey; but the people preferred another man, and actually elected the unpardoned rebel, Confederate General Humphrey, and the President pardoned him at once, showing that he did not intend to make a choice for the people, or interfere in any way with the matter.

In a letter to Governor Sharkey, of Mississippi, President Johnson says:

"The People must be trusted with their Government, and if trusted, my opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union."—Peoples' Press, Salem, N. C.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Daily Trains.—We are requested to state that the trains from Charlotte to the head of the Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherfordton Depot, will run daily during the sessions of the Methodist Conference in Charlotte. This will afford great accommodations to those who desire to attend the sessions of the Conference.

Our Exchanges.—We take occasion to advise the clergy now in attendance as Delegates to the South Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South, that they are invited to visit our sanctum and peruse our exchanges. We will be pleased to receive their visits.

Telegraphic News.—We are now completing arrangements to secure a regular supply of the Telegraphic News usually published by our eastern cotemporaries. As soon as replies have been received we will be enabled to give Northern, Eastern, Southern and Western News, in fact "from all the world as well as the rest of mankind," the morning after the transactions and occurrences of the day have been recorded. Look out for the TIMES, the Charlotte, N. C. TIMES, we mean.

The Methodist Conference.—This important Ecclesiastical body will assemble this morning at the Methodist Church, and will be presided over by their much beloved Bishop, Rev. George F. Pierce, D. D.

To-morrow morning, the Pastoral address will be delivered by the Rev. Albert M. Shipp, at the usual hour for service, and we presume the public will be pleased with having an opportunity of receiving religious encouragement from one of the brightest and most polished Divines in that great and prosperous religious association.

We will endeavor to procure a copy of the address for insertion in the TIMES.

Improvements.—In consequence of the rapid increase of patronage to our subscription list, as well as our advertising business, we find it absolutely necessary to seek additional assistance and supplies to meet the demands of our patrons. As a consequence one of our firm will shortly go abroad to purchase new supplies of material, and secure other improvements which will enable us to meet the wants of the public.

Disbanded.—We learn that a portion of the U. S. Cavalry, recently arrived in Charlotte for the purpose of being disbanded, were mustered out of service yesterday, and many of them are now on their return, "Homeward Bound." We would not express regrets if they were all permitted to go, and enjoy the comforts of home and the society of their early associations, for they are not needed in North Carolina. The people are loyal, and quiet is enjoyed by all. It is hard they are compelled to remain in the discharge of military duties that have become irksome, unnecessary and afflictive, in consequence of the entire submission to law and order on the part of those who were recently engaged in war with them.

A CARD.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: I am a candidate for Clerk of the Superior Court of Mecklenburg County.

The unsettled condition of my father-in-law's business in the Clerk's office, has induced me to appeal to his old friends to support me in opposition to others better known than I am.

I have some experience as Clerk, and some insight into the business of this office, having acted as deputy to Maj. Kerr. I have been advised to this course by a portion of the Bar familiar with the business of the office; and I am sure, at present, I have a deeper interest in being elected than any other candidate can have.

By supporting me you will confer a lasting benefit upon the family of an old and tried friend. I am, very respectfully,

Death of Hon. Timothy Rives.

PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—Hon. Timothy Rives, of Prince George county, widely known, died at his residence near Petersburg, to-day.

[SECOND DISPATCH.]

PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—A locomotive on the Raleigh and Gaston road, exploded yesterday, instantly killing two persons.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The steamer St John, of the Albany line, exploded her boiler this morning. Seven persons were killed. The cause of the explosion is not known.

What the South Needs.

Gov. Perry, in his admirable message, has touched upon a matter which must, nölens volens, be seriously considered by the people of the Southern States and of South Carolina. We allude to the following paragraph:

"It should be the pride of every farmer and planter in the State to raise, grow or make everything which he uses or needs. Slavery has been abolished, and labor made more honorable as well as more necessary. They who have heretofore spent their lives in ease and idleness will be forced to work. Planting and the learned professions are no longer the only honorable means of livelihood for our young men. They must become tradesmen, manufacturers, artisans and mechanics. Immigration of industrious foreigners must be encouraged. Then manufacturers will spring up, commerce will revive, and we shall become an independent people."

This is plain and sensible talk to the people. What we want now is workers in every department of industry—in the field, in the work-shop, in the manufactory and in the counting house. The radical change in our system of labor will not now permit any gentlemen, idlers or unproductive loafers. If the earth yields her increase to any remunerative extent, it must be by hard licks and untiring energy on the part of her people; if we wish to advance our mechanical interests, our young men must not be ashamed to go into the work-shops and learn some useful trade, and in every other department of the great work of developing our resources and repairing our shattered fortunes, it is workers—earnest, faithful workers—that are needed.—Columbia, (S. C.) Phœnix.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue Stamps may be used indiscriminitely upon any of the matters or things enumerated in schedule B, except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whose use it is made, may stamp it before it is used; but in no case can it be legally used without a stamp; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other processes than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, petition, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scira facias are subject to stamp duty as original processes.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and subject to a stamp duty of 5 cents, except when taken in suits or legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand, or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same stamp duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at the time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of fifty cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyances of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed, should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.

Proposals for Carrying the Mails.

We publish below proposals for carrying the mails weekly to the County seats of this State, until the 1st of January next. We trust that persons who may be disposed to make proposals will do so at once, as mails are very much needed. We learn that ten dollars per mile will be allowed for this temporary service. The post offices on the various lines will be supplied, and it is desirable that postmasters be appointed at once. Proposals for any of these routes and nominations for Postmasters [illegible] may be addressed to Gov. Holden, to be forwarded by him to Washington. Persons who may propose to carry the mails must offer the necessary evidence that they will comply with their contracts; and nominations for Postmasters must be endorsed by loyal men, known to the Governor. Females may not be Postmasters, and there is no objection to appointing them.

The advertisement for the regular mail service in this State will appear soon.

We learn that the granting of this special temporary mail service is due to the indefatigable exertions of Dr. R. J. Powell, the State Agent in Washington, aided by W. S. Mason and W. J. Palmer, Esquires, of this city. We believe that no such favor has been extended to any other State.

PASTORAL LETTER OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

DEARLY BELOVED BRETHREN:

Cherishing at all times a tender solicitude for the welfare of the flock over which the Holy Ghost has made us overseers, we find special reasons, as a body of christian ministers, to avail ourselves of the occasion of our coming together in Annual Conference, to address to you, a few words of salutary counsel and admonition.

The close of the war, which during the last four years convulsed our entire country, and spread wasting and destruction within our borders unequalled in the history of civilized nations, has left you not only politically and socially in greatly altered circumstances, but also, as members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in several new and untried relations, out of which must grow correspondding obligations and duties of the gravest import.

It is proper, first, to remind you, although the fact is too obvious to be readily overlooked, that for the adjudication of all questions relating to faith and morals, you are to look solely to the revealed will of God, as contained in the canonical books of the Old and New Testament Scriptures. Hence, it is contained in the 5th Article of our Religion, that "The Holy Scriptures contain all things necessary to salvation, so that whatsoever is not read therein, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any man that it should be believed as an Article of Faith, or be thought requisite or necessary for salvation."

Notwithstanding this recognized standard of doctrine and of duty, there is a strange proclivity in the human mind to judge of the soundness of religious faith and practice, not by viewing them in the light of God's Word but in relation to His providences. Thus, in patriarchial times, Job was adjudged by his condoling friends to be guilty of enormous crimes, because extraordinary calamities were permitted to befall him. But God rebuked the presumption and corrected the error of this Arabian theology. "The Lord said to Eliphaz, the Temanite, my wrath is kindled against thee and against thy two friends: for ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right as my servant Job hath." Thus, when the blessed Savior sojourned upon earth, and went about doing good, his disciples, on the occasion of his imparting sight to a man who was blind from his birth, "asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" Detecting the false causes to which men are apt to refer the judgments of God, and repudiating the opinion on which the inquiry of his disciples was obviously founded, viz: That God's love and hatred are written upon His providential dealings, "Jesus answered, neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the works of God should be made manifest in him. Thus, also, in the Middle Ages whole nations sought the judgment of God through an appeal to the ordeal of fire and water, the trial by single combat, or walking blindfold over red hot shovels or bars of iron. But the innocent were found to suffer equally with the guilty, and men were confounded and, began at length to abandon their folly. Now the appeal to Heaven is taken by nations upon some great principle, and multitudes suppose that the question at issue, is divinely settled by the events of war.

They who arrogate to themselves an apostolic spirit, and claim the right to dictate in religion, and think they see through the intricacies of Divine Providence, but who nevertheless have the same infirmities and weakness of understanding with other men, and are blessed with no greater supernatural helps and revelations should beware, lest joining confidence with weakness they pervert God's dealings with man, and distribute blessings and curses at random—often blessing whom God curses, and cursing whom He blesses, thus repeating the error of the barbarians mentioned in the Acts of the Apostles, who, when they saw the venomous beast hang on Paul's hand after he had escaped shipwreck, said among themselves, with the air of men who looked upon themselves as no ordinary persons in judging of such things, "No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance sufferth not to live."—Howbeit, when he shook off the beast into the fire and felt no harm, they changed their minds, and said he was a god." If prosperity or adversity, if success or failure in enterprise constitute the rule by which you are to decide what is true or erroneous in faith, and right or wrong in practice, then you are lost in an endless labyrinth of perplexity and confusion, since there is no shade of religious belief, and no variety of human conduct which has not been accredited by some success, and discredited also by some reverse in the history of God's permissive providence. "Non eventu rerum, sed fide verborum standus."—You are to stand to the truth of God's word, not to the event of things, is, therefore a wise theological maxim. The history of every age and nation has furnished an example of an afflicted truth, or a prevailing sin. To be innocent and to be oppressed are the body and soul of christianity. For, although to the law of Moses, God made with his people a covenant of temporal prosperity; and "his saints did bind the kings of the Amorites and the Philistines in chains, and their nobles with links of iron, and then that was the honor which all his saints had;" yet in Christ Jesus he has made a covenant of suffering. All his doctrines and precepts expressly and by consequence enjoin and support sufferings. His very promises are sufferings—his beautitudes are sufferings—his rewards, and his arguments to invite men to follow him, are only taken from sufferings in this life, and the rewards of sufferings in the life to come. So that if you will serve the king of sufferings, whose crown was of thorns, whose scepter was a reed of scorn, whose imperial robe was a scarlet of mockery, and whose throne was the cross, you must serve him in sufferings, in poverty of spirit, in humility and mortification, and for your reward have persecution and all its blessed consequences.

Of all his apostles not one died a natural death, but St. John only and he escaped by miracle, the cauldron of scalding lead and oil before the Port Latin in Rome, only to live long in banishment and to die at length an exile in Patmos, full of days and full of suffering. When St. Paul was taken into the Apostolate, his commission was signed in these words of suffering, "I will show unto him how great things he must suffer for my name," and "I die daily," was the motto of his ever afflicted life. For three hundred years together the Church was nourished by the blood of her own children. Thirty three Bishops of Rome in succession were put to violent and unnatural deaths and all the Churches in the east and west were "baptised into the death of Christ." Their very profession and institution was to live like him and when he required it to die for him;—this was the very formality and essence of christianity, insomuch that when Ignatius was newly tied in a chain to be led forth to his martyrdom, he cried out "nunc incipio esse christianus—now I begin to be a christian." Of prosperous vice, on the other hand, the record is voluminous. The thirty-seventh and the seventy-third Psalms give a large discription of the success and pride of bad men, many of whom spend their lives and end their days prosperously. "The prosperity of bad men, and the miseries and afflictions of the good, were in those days a great difficulty in providence, and were so to the Psalmist himself, and therefore it is certain that whatever he says of the righteousness of God, and his care of righteous men, and his abhorrence of all wickedness and injustice, cannot signify that God will always defend men in their just rights—that he will always prosper a righteous cause and righteous men; for this was against plain matter of fact, and we cannot suppose the Psalmist so inconsistent with himself, as in the same breath to complain that wicked men were prosperous and good men afflicted, and to affirm that the just and righteous judge of the world, would always punish unjust oppressors and protect the innocent. Nay, indeed, the very nature of the thing proves the contrary; for there can be no unjust oppressors, if nobody can be oppressed in their just rights; and therefore it is certain the Divine providence does, at least for a time, suffer some men to be very prosperous in their oppressions, and does not always defend a just and innocent cause; for if he did there could be no innocent oppressed man to be relieved, nor any oppressor to be punished. And if it be consistent with the justice and righteousness of providence to permit such things for some time, we must conclude that it is at the discretion of providence, how long good men shall be oppressed and the oppressor go unpunished." And there are very many cases of war, concerning which God may declare nothing: and although in such cases they that yield and quit their title rather than their charity and the care of so many lives are the wisest and best men, yet if neither party will do this, let none decree judgments from heaven and thunder from their tribunals where no voice from God has declared the sentence. But in cases of evident tyrany and injustice do like the good Samaritan who dressed the wounded man but never pursued the thief; do works of charity to the afflicted, and bear your wrongs with nobleness of soul, looking up to Jesus, who endured the cross despising the shame and never take upon you the office of God who will judge the nations righteously, and when he has delivered up your bodies, will rescue your souls from the hands of unrighteous oppressors.—If he raises up the Assyrian to punish the Israelites, and the Egyptians to destroy the Assyrians, and the Æthiopians to scourge the Egyptians—at the last his own hand shall sever the good from the bad, in the day when he makes up his jewels.

Let no christian man, therefore make any judgment concerning his condition or his cause by the external event of things but by the word of God. Let none distrust the Almighty or charge God foolishly because in the on-goings of his plan for the government of the world results are often evolved which fail to harmonize with the suggestions of finite wisdom: rather let all render a loving obedience to the will of Him who is just and wise, and holy, and good, and cheerfully acquiesce in every dispensation of His providence as constituting a part of that great disciplinary process by which the just are taught to live by faith and not by sight, and by which they are purified and strengthened for final victory. "Look not back upon him that strikes thee, but upward to God who supports thee: and then consider if the loss of thy estate hath taught thee to despise the world, whether thy poor fortune hath made thee poor in spirit; and if thy uneasy prison sets thy soul at liberty and knocks off the fetters of a worse captivity. For then the rod of suffering turns into crowns and sceptres, when every suffering is a precept, and every change of condition produces a holy resolution, and the state of sorrows makes the resolution actual and habitual, permanent and persevering. For as the silk worm eateth itself out of a seed to become a little worm and then feeding on the leaves of mulberries, it grows till its coat be off and then works itself into a house of silk, then casting its pearly seeds for the young to breed, it leaveth its silk for man and dies all white and winged in the shape of a flying creature; so is the progress of souls. When they are regenerated and have cast off their first stains and the skein of worldly vanities by feeding on the leaves of scripture and the fruits of the vine, and the joys of the sacrament, they encircle themselves in the rich garments of holy and virtuous habits, then by leaving their blood, which is the church's seed to raise up a new generation to God, they leave a blessed memory and fair example and are themselves turned into angels, whose felicity is to do the will of God, as their employment was in this world to suffer."

But while the fifth article of our Religion fixes for you an infallible standard of christian doctrine and morals, the twenty-third article defines with great accuracy the political duties which you owe to the government which under the providence of God has been established over you. "The President, the Congress, the General Assemblies, the Governors and the councils of State, as the delegates of the people, are the rulers of the United States of America according to the division of power made to them by the Constitution of the United States and by the Constitution of their respective States. And the said States are a sovereign and independent nation and ought not to be subject to any foreign jurisdiction.

As far as it respects civil affairs we believe it the duty of christians, and especially of all christain ministers to be subject to the supreme authority of the country where they may reside, and to use all laudable means to enjoin obedience to the powers that be, and therefore it is expected that all our preachers and people who may be under the British or any other government will behave themselves as peaceable and orderly subjects."

Nowhere do we learn the qualifications of civil rulers or the duties of subjects as we learn them from the Bible, nor should we find these instructions there embodied if civil government were not ordained of God. The doctrine of the New Testament is that there is no power but of God," that "the powers that be are ordained of God." God announces in his word "by me Kings reign, and princes decree justice." All government in all the varied social relations rests upon the same basis. It is of divine right. Nor is it difficult to perceive that the only safe principle for a conscientious man to adopt in order to acknowledge the supremacy of the laws is, that they are the laws of the existing government. The perplexity would be endless if, in order to secure his allegiance he must institute and decide the inquiry, who possesses de jure the civil power. The fact is that almost all the governments that now exists or of which there remains any record in history were originally founded in usurpation or conquest. There never was in any one family any long, regular succession in the Roman Empire. Their line of princes was continually broken, either by private assassinations or public rebellions. John the Baptist recognized the authority of a usurper when he said to the soldiers of Augustus. "Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely and be content with your wages." The Saviour recognized the authority of a usurper when he said of the tribute money of Tiberious, "Render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's and unto God the things that are God's." The Apostle Paul in writing to the Christians at Rome and then under the government of one of the most arbitrary and cruel tyrants, uses such language as the following: "Let every soul be subject to the higher powers; whoso resisteth the power resisteth the ordinance of God. Therefore ye must needs be subject not only for truth but for conscience sake." The language of the Bible to Christians everywhere is "submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether it be to the King as supreme or unto Governors." The Bible however, nowhere advocates the doctrine of, "passive obedience and non-resistance to such an extent as to forbid all hope of relief from a wicked and tyrannical government or to condemn the efforts of an intelligent and oppressed people in rising in their majesty to shake off a tyranical yoke. The fact that the Bible establishes the authority of a government when thus revolutionized recognizes the right of revolution. There are rights of the people which are superior to the rights of their rulers and which when abused justify the people in throwing themselves back upon those principles of self-preservation which underlie all human laws, which are written deep and indellibly on the fleshly tables of the human heart and are inseparably entwined with the bone and sinew of an oppressed and injured community. Yet this unquestionable right of the people ought to be exercised with great prudence and discretion. It was a weighty remark of Fox, then the first nobleman of the British Empire, that "The doctrine of resistance is a principle which we should wish Kings never to forget, and their subjects seldom to remember." The gratuitous charge that the division of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1844, was designed by the Southern members to impair the integrity of the American Union, by inviting to a corresponding political division fabricated by designing persons to render the M. E. Church, South, an object of distrust to the General Government never obtained credit proportionate to the zeal with which it was circulated and signally failed of accomplishing its object. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was from the beginning, and is now, loyal to the existing government, in conformity with her twenty-third article of Religion. The solemn declaration of the Louisville Convention at the organization of the Church must be taken as an honest statement of political sentiment and motive as far as they had influence in that important movement. After pointing out the way in which such effect had been produced it is declared that "The assumed conservative power of the M. E. Church, with regard to the civil union of the States, is, to a great extent, destroyed, and we are compelled to believe that it is the interest and becomes the duty of the Church in the South to seek to exert such conservative influence in some other form; and after the most mature deliberation and careful examination of the whole subject we know of nothing so likely to effect the object as the jurisdictional separation of the great Church parties unfortunately involved in a religous and ecclesiastical controversy about an affair of State, a question of civil policy over which the Church has no control and with which it is believed she has no right to interfere. Among the nearly five hundred thousand ministers and members of the Conferences represented in this Convention, we do not know one not deeply and intensely interested in the safety and perpituity of the National Union, nor can we for a moment hesitate to pledge them all against any course of action or policy not calculated in their judgment to render that Union, as immortal as the hopes of patriotism would have it to be! The question of a re-union of the Southern and Northern Methodist Churches which has been obtruded on your notice since the close of the war can be most readily and satisfactorily determined, in the light of a history of course of the prominent facts relating to the separation, abridged from the records of the Church, and taken in connection at the same time with the spirit that has declared the policy regularly pursued by the M. E. Church, North, against the M. E. Church, South, since the period of division. The struggle that led to the separation was brought on by Southern defence against Northern invasion of the discipline.

By a law of the Church made in 1840 it was declared that "The simple holding of slaves, or mere ownership of slave property in States, or territories where the laws do not admit of emancipation, and permit the liberated slave to enjoy, freedom constitutes no legal barrier to the election or ordination of ministers, to the various grades of office, known in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and cannot therefore be considered as operating any forfiture of right, in view of such election and ordination." Although under the direct protection, of this law which in substance had been in existence, in the Discipline of the Church since 1816. Bishop Andrew, of unimpeachable name, was deposed from the episcopacy, and the Rev. F. A. Harding of unblemished character, was divested of his credentials by a majority of the General Conference of 1844. In review of this extraordinary transaction it was remarked by one of the ablest jurists of our country, that "in the whole history of jurisprudence, in its actual administration throughout the civilized word, where duty is inculcated by law, and rights are protected by law, this is as clear and palpable an infraction of law, as is to be found disgracing any of the pages of the books which illustrate the utter regardlessness of law, in the early and dark and tyranous ages of English jurisprudence." This palpable violation of the Discipline and consequent invasion of the rights of the ministry, guaranteed to them by the law of the Church, was a prominent cause which impelled the Southern Conferences to the separation. The institution of slavery was the occasion, not the cause of this unfortunate event, by developing a dangerous principle of action, on the part of the majority of the General Conference of 1844, which might as well have manifested itself in connexion with some other affair of state, about which the Church essayed to legislate, in opposition to the law of the land, but which as carried out in the case actually occurring did in fact place the Southern Conferences of the M. E. Church in a position, directly antagonistic, on a question of civil policy, to the authorities of state in contravention of the thirty third Article of religion, and of the New Testament Scriptures.

Among the many weighty reasons also, which influenced the Southern Conferences in seeking to be released from the jurisdiction of the General Conference of the M. E. Church, as then constituted, were the novel and dangerous doctrines practically avowed and endorsed by that body and the Northern portion of the Church generally with regard to the Constitution of the Church, and the constitutional rights and powers respectively of the Episcopacy and the General Conference In relation to the first it was confidently, although most unaccountably maintained, that the six, short restriction rules which were adopted in 1808 and first became obligatory as an amendment to the Constitution in 1812, was in fact the true and only constitution of the Church. This theory assumes the self-refuted absurdity, that the General Conference is, in fact, the government of the Church, if not the Church itself. With no other Constitution than these mere restrictions upon the powers and rights of the General Conference, the government and discipline of the M. E. Church, as a system of organized laws and well-adjusted instrumentalities for the spread of the Gospel, and the diffusion of Piety, and whose strong principles of energy and action have so long commanded the admiration of the world would, soon cease even to exist. The startling assumption that a Bishop of the M. E. Church, instead of holding office under the Constitution and by tenure of law, and the faithful performance of duty is nothing in his character of Bishop, but a mere officer at will of the General Conference, and may accordingly be deposed at any time with or without cause, accusation, proof or form of trial, as a dominant majority may capriciously elect, or party interest suggest, and that the General Conference may do by right whatever is not prohibited by the restrictive rules and with this single exception, possess power supreme, and all controlling, and this in all possible forms of its manifestative, legislative, judical and executive, the same men claiming to be at the same time, both the fountain and funcionaries of all the powers of government, which powers thus merged and concentrated into a common force, may at any time be employed at the prompting of their own interest, caprice, or ambition. Such wild and revolutionary assumptions so unlike the faith and discipline of Methodism, as they had been taught than the Southern Conferences were compelled to regard as fraught with mischief and ruin to the best interests of the Church, and as furnishing a strong additional reason why they should avail themselves of the warrant they then had, but might never again obtain from the General Conference to establish an ecclesiastical connexion, embracing only the Annual Conferences in the slave-holding States. The whole constitutional argument, and indeed all the reasons impelling to the separation are equally patent against the re-union of the Church. No possible advantages to be gained by a jurisdictional union in one General Conference, can compensate for the evils that must necessarily result to the Southern Conferences from the action of a Northern majority, clothed with the extraordinary powers still claimed for that body on questions in which the vital interests of the Southern Church are still directly involved. The spirit moreover that declared the policy regularly pursued by the Northern Church against the M. E. Church, South, since the period of separation is not such as irresistibly to invite the Southern Conferences to return to the arms of an ecclesiastical body, with which, twenty years ago they so anxiously struggled to make terms, and from which they at length obtained, under providence, an honorable and happy release. When the struggle came in 1844, the Southern delegates as they had often done, before manifested a most earnest desire, and did all in their power, to maintain jurisdictional union with the North, without sacrificing the interests of the South; when this was found impracticable a connexional union was proposed and the rejection of this by the North led to the projection and adoption of the General Conference plan of separation. Every overture of compromise, every plan of reconciliation and adjustment regarded as at all eligible or likely to succeed was offered by the South, and rejected by the North. All subsequent attempts at compromise failed in like manner and when thus compelled to take their position upon the ground assigned them by the General Conference of 1844, as a distinct ecclesiastical connexion, the Annual Conferences in the South, in view of still adjusting the difficulties of this controversy upon terms and principles that might be safe and satisfactory to both parties, passed in Convention this parting resolution.

Resolved, That while we cannot abandon or compromise the principles of action upon which we proceed to a separate organization in the South, nevertheless, cherishing a sincere desire to maintain christian union and fraternal intercourse with the Church, North, we shall always be ready, kindly and respectfully to entertain, and duly and carefully consider, any proposition or plan having for its object the union of the two great bodies, in the North and South, whether such proposed union be jurisdictional or connexional.

This valedictory overture of adjustment was met by an abrogation of the plan of separation, and writing us down in their books as schismatics. This parting invitation to open up fraternal intercourse with us was met by a rejection of our messenger, and proclaiming us heretics. This last call to look upon us at least as christians, and the subsequent request to deal with us in commutative justice, and to restore to us our own, was met by a more tenacious grasp of our property, and treating us as outlaws. They have waged an unceasing ecclesiastical war against us all the more relentless as they have wronged us so deeply. They have followed in the rear of military expeditions and taken possession of our churches. They have made haste and delayed not to organize Annual Conferences within the limits of our jurisdiction. But the authorized judicatories of our country have erase from the records the charge of schism and heresy against us; recognised us as [illegible] der the protection of law, and restored to our property. And now, after a twenty years ecclesiastical war upon us, the suggestion of union with the M. E. Church, North, urged assurances of advantage to the M. E. Church South, coeval with her, and in all respects equal, falls on cautious ears. "Timeo danaos et dona ferentes." We fear the Greeks, even when they offer presents. The love that invites us to the arms of the North is too sudden. We are afraid of their fraternal embraces.

As a distinct and separate organization, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has a great mission to fulfil, and if faithful to her trust, under God, is secure for all time to come. Like one of those rocking stones reared by the Druids, which the finger of a child might vibrate to its centre, yet the might of an army could not move from its place, our system is so nicely poised and balanced, that it seems to sway with every breath of opinion, yet so firmly rooted in the heart and affections of our people, that the wildest storms of opposing fanaticism must break over it in vain.

The peculiar circumstances of the times render it necessary to urge upon your attention, the claims of the Ministry upon your sympathy and support. The results of the late war have deprived many of them of the means which they formerly possessed, and which they cheerfully employed in the great and godly work to which they had devoted themselves. Some of those who, for many years, have labored in your service, and helped you greatly in your heavenward pilgrimage, are now left utterly destitute, and wholly dependent upon God and the sympathies of the Church; while the widows and orphans of those who have lived and died in the Master's vineyard, turn their eyes to you in this hour of their sorest need. The present affords, perhaps, the noblest opportunity you have ever had of illustrating the christian law of love and benevolence, and laying up for yourselves treasure in Heaven. The Providence of God has recently shown you how insecure and uncertain are all earthly riches, and admonished you to use the goods entrusted to you as STEWARDS of our Lord making "to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness, that, when ye fail they may receive you into everlasting habitations."

It is in seasons of trial like the present, and when our own necessities seem to demand all our efforts and our care, that Faith enacts its brightest deeds, and records its sublime triumphs. So was it with the widow of Sarepta, when she used her last handful of meal to make the Prophet's bread. So was it when another widow cast her mites into the treasury of the Lord, and gave all the living which she had. So was it with the disciples at Antioch, during the famine, in the days of Claudius Cæsar, when every man according to his ability, sent relief to the brethren which dwelt in Judea. So was it with the Churches of Macedonia, of which St. Paul bore witness, "how that, in a great trial of affliction, the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality." So was it with the Philippians, whose generous remembrance of St. Paul prompted them to send to the relief of his necessities once and again at Thessalonica, and afterwards to Rome, by the hands of Epaphroditus. Surely if they have sown unto you spiritual things, you should gladly minister to them your carnal things.

We should not fully perform our duty in this address, Beloved Brethren, if we did not exhort you to maintain, with all dilligence the integrity and purity of your christian character, in the midst of the severe ordeal through which the Providence of God is causing you to pass; and so to use the afflictions of these times, "that they may work out for you a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." We have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy." "Let patience have her perfect work that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing." It is the old lesson of our christianity, that through much tribulation we must enter into the Kingdom of God. Poverty and sufferings have been the lot of the faithful in all ages, and these have developed the steadfast and manly virtues of the christian character. The shaking of kingdoms, the confusion of human plans, and the turbulent agitation of human passions, are only preparatory to the establishment of that Kingdom which shall never be shaken;—to the order and harmony of that system which shall never be changed, and to the introduction of that perfect spiritual tranquility which shall never be disturbed. So far from being unsettled in our faith by these things, we should rather feel that the word of God is made more sure; for the Scriptures have taught us that these things must needs be before the end come. And surely these earthly disorders and losses should excite in us the more ardent desire for those immutable and everlasting joys which await us in the life to come. "Set, then, your affections on things above, and not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is your life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory." Happy are they whose earthly losses are thus made to turn to their heavenly gain.

It is in times of darkness like the present when the ways of Providence are intricate and mysterious, and His designs are, to human minds, utterly unaccountable—when reason is baffled in all her efforts to comprehend the plans and ends of Infinite Wisdom, that Faith reposes in sublime composure upon the eternal Word of Truth, and awaits with patient the solution of the problem, under the firm and unalterable conviction that "the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth." Soon shall the elemental storm subside, and our ark, which has been tossed upon the waves of this deluge shall rest in calm security upon the celestial Ararat, and we shall walk out amid the glories of the New Heaven and the New Earth delivered from all fears of future convulsion or revolution, beholding the beautiful ensign of our safety in the "Rainbow round about the Throne."

The duties growing out of the new relation which you are called to sustain to the negroes of the South, in so far as they affect their religious condition and spiritual welfare, are not essentially different from those which have always commended themselves heretofore to your christian judgment, and which have received, at your hands, a faithful and zealous performance. While and your provident management and kind treatment, this portion of our population will be made to surpass in the enjoyment of all the physical comforts of life, the correspondent classes of society in every nation of the globe, at the same time, through the active instrumentalities which your christian liberality cherished and employed for their religious rescue, thousands have been brought from "darkness to light," and transferred from the kingdom of Satan to the kingdom of God. It can hardly be supposed, that within the limits of a Conference, whose church members have furnished, in the annual contributions, more than thirty thousand dollars to extend the privileges of the gospel to the negroes, any christian man can be found willing to forego the laudable effort to elevate the race in the scale of intellectual, moral and religious improvement. The same system of instrumentalities, with slight changes to adopt it to new circumstances in which they are placed, may be employed for their spiritual welfare, and we bespeak your continued and active co-operation to render it effective. Continue as heretofore, your arrangements for their accommodation in all the churches that frequenting the schools of catichetical instruction, and occupying their accustomed places in the house of God, they may receive from the lips of a pure and spiritual ministry, the messages of the gospel, and rejoice with you in the participation of the benefits of a common salvation.

Wherefore, Beloved Brethren, dwelling in the communion of a church, enjoying, as at present constituted, great unity and peace—looking to the Word of God as an infallible standard of christian and political ethics in conformity with the Articles of our holy religion. With a firm trust and confidence in Almighty God, and a cheerful acquiescence in all the dispensations of His providences, address yourselves with renewed ardor and zeal to every private, domestic and public duty, as christian men and christian patriots. Cherish an ardent affection for the Church of your fathers, and strive to make yourselves worthy members of the same, by diligently reading God's Holy Word, reverently keeping all His Commandments, and punctually attending on all the Ordinances of His house, that thereby all our people, becoming holy in their lives and godly in their conversations, may be an ornament to their profession, and make the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, a praise in the land.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

The Lord bless you, and keep you. The Lord make His face shine upon you, and be gracious unto you. The Lord lift up His countenance upon and give you peace.

Fire.—Yesterday morning about 2 o'clock, a burglar and incendiary entered the Saddery Manufacturing establishment of Mr. S. M. Howell, located on trade street, and after robbing the desk, in which there was much valuable property, books, Papers and Estate records, fired the premises.

The alarm was given by a negro boy, Fred, employed by Mr. Kinzler, who was up attending the business of the bakery, as soon as the fire was discovered, and through his exertions together with several citizens who were prompt and laborious, the building was saved.

The loss sustained is heavy, but we are pleased to state that it cannot seriously injure Mr. Howell, whose skill and energy are fortunes in themselves.

This is an incendiary's work, and our fellow-citizens had best be vigilant and oganize for mutual protection.

Mr. Chas. C. Harris, and a colored man, Lewis, who were the first on the spot, deserve great praise, as to them may properly be awarded the credit of saving the building

Holden-Radical Convention.

The "unmistakably loyal men" met on Thursday in W. W. Holden's office, and proceeded to organise by making that worthy President. After passing a string of resolutions, one of which approves the Howard amendment; another expressing confidence in the justice and magnanimity of Congress, and another deploring the desertion of Governor Worth from the Union cause, and reading letters from Lewis Thompson, of Bertie, R. P. Dick, of Guilford, and other distinguished Unionists, wound up by nominating Alfred Dockery, of Richmond County, as the opposition candidate for Governor. Thus has this State "mass meeting," consisting of something less than 20 delegates from nine counties, organized by breaking with the President, and sustaining, so far as their action could, the Radical Congress in the war on the South, the Constitution and the President.

Thus have they drawn the line, so far as they could, between the national men and their platform of principles as enunciated at Philadelphia on the 14th of August last and the mulatto concern which assembled in September.

With the exception of Mr. Holden, not a delegate was present whose name is known to the people of the State. Thus have the Yankees, renegades and tories striven, so far as they could, to stir up the bitter waters of strife and confusion in our midst.

On the one side stand the names of Graham, Ashe, Wilson, Smith, Gilmer, George Davis—the Chevalier Bayard of the Cape Fear region,—and on the other that of Billy Holden, Wm. Sloan and A. J. Jackson of Gaston—Menninger, an unacclimated Yankee from New Berne, Jones, and a few others equally unknown and insignificant. While President Johnson, J. R. Doolittle, Reverdy Johnson, and a host of Conservatives at the North, are battling manfully for the Constitution and the rights of the States—these men, thirsting for plunder and the blood of the South, meet in the office of the Ex-P. G., and express "confidence in the justice and magnanimity of the Congress" over which rules Thad. Stevens and Sumner, and cannot say one word of approval of the man who, risking all, stands like a "stone-wall" between the people of the South and confiscation and the gallows. And while the hosts are marshalling for the final conflict, this contemptible little squad, under the flaming caption of "State Mass Meeting," has, in order to attract public notice published this to the world. Who ever heard of constituting a "mass meeting"? And in order to cover up the farce not even a list of delegates is given. It is true, an Executive Committee was appointed, with several respectable names appended—but who knows that this mass meeting of two persons was authorized to do so? Lately a meeting was held in New Berne and a similar use made of respectable gentlemen's names, many of whom have already come out in cards indignantly denying that they sympathised with the agitators. Some of these may do so again, but what care W. W. Holden and his confrees? The impression will already be made at the North, and it will be too late for the correction to counteract the effect.

And we again express confidence that Mr. Dockery will not only decline, but that he will sustain the President; but more than a week will elapse before his declination can be known, and all this precious time his name will go to the North as a candidate.

Such conduct is unjustifiable under any and all circumstances, and merits the rebuke of all honorable men.

The Worth men must now throw off their apathy, and go to the polls and vote with a majority as was never known before in this or any other State. Dockery is a clever man, on to 70 years, and somewhat childish, but we do not believe he is so far gone as to be made a tool of by this designing and unprincipled caucus.

A letter dated Berwick, Georgia, September 18, says, 'We have not suffered so severely from drouth here as you have. The crops in this portion of the country are generally good. The Freedmen have behaved and conducted themselves as well as was expected."

THE POLITICAL RIOT AT PLATTE CITY, MISSOURI.—A special (Radical) dispatch from St. Joseph, says:

"An eye-witness of the affair at Platte City, Missouri, states that the conduct of the rebels, the arms they carried, and their large numbers, leaves no doubt that they came into town to break up the Radical County Convention. Four men were killed, and three or four others will probably die. About one dozen were wounded. The affair creates a profound sensation, and serious trouble is apprehended.

THE HERALD'S STRATEGY AND CONSISTENCY.—The N. Y. Herald, in reply to charges of inconsistency in its recent course, says:

"Our strategy, like General Grant's, consists in getting as close to the enemy as possible. By means of this constitutional amendment we shall get the Southern representatives into Congress free to dance with the Radicals, and thus we can defeat the faction which is so dangerous to the country. Our contemporary, on the other hand, is pursuing an ignorant policy calculated to keep the South out of Congress indefinitely, and is, consequently, aiding and abetting the Radicals in their schemes."

COMMERCIAL DISRETSS IN ENGLAND.—A dispatch from New York to the Philadelphia Ledger says:

Letters from Liverpool represented that notwithstanding the reductions in the rate of interest by the Bank of England, and the plethora of money that was visible, trade continued in a very dull and unsatisfactory condition. While speculation was altogether lifeless. Banks and bankers had their hands full of cotton, the result of commercial wrecks in May and June, and as all were anxious to sell, the market was kept from advancing by the pressure upon it.

At Manchester there was an equally despondent feeling, the result, in part of sympathy with Liverpool, and because of the severe individual losses that had been experienced.

VIRGINIA.—The stay law and other questions connected with the indebtedness of the people is exciting no little attention in Virginia. A writer in the Richmond Whig, of the 11th, has this to say on the subject.

The present stay lay is merely a thin veil, which stands between the debtors and utter and hopeless destruction. It is the hair by which hangs the sword of Damocles suspended over their heads. Remove it, and the wail of desolation will be heard at many a hearth-stone. Large numbers of our noblest families will be thrown out upon the cold world, and their places supplied by the Yankee adventurer and the miserable Southern speculator, who has coined his gold, in the great time of our trouble, from the blood of patriot martyrs and sacred tears of the widows and orphans.

In order to avoid this extremity, a large class of people will, in future, and are now making deeds (a proceeding, to say the least, of questionable morality but thrust upon them by the force of circumstances over which they had no control) conveying their property to trustees, in trust for their wives and a few favored creditors who have treated them kindly and leniently, thus securing the contingent right of dower, but in fact virtually repudiating the great body of their liabilities. Is this right, or is it wrong? Let moralists decide as they will, the world in a great number of instances, will sanction the proceeding. For my own part, I neither recommend nor endorse it, and yet it looks as though it were matter of self-defence.—

GOLD AND THE GOVERNMENT CREDIT.—Mr. McCulloch will have nothing to do with the request of foreign bankers for the use of gold certificates, nor will he consent to the sale of the Government gold in the Treasury, or the amount daily received for customs. He intends that in the future the market shall be left to regulate itself—holding, meanwhile, the opinion that the increasing receipts from the Pacific and Atlantic shores will have the effect of reducing the premium on the precious metals quite as rapidly as the interests of the Government and the country shall require. This is the most sound position Mr. McCulloch could take, for he will find the larger his pile of gold becomes, the greater will be the confidence, both at home and abroad, in the financial strength of the Government and its ability to meet all its engagements, not only at maturity, but prior to that time, should he see fit to do so.

HOW TO GET RID OF ANTS.—A lady says:

"Some ten years ago I went to my closet to get a sponge cake, and found it covered with those little pets the red ants. Not knowing what to do with it, I laid it down on an old black walnut table close by, and in less time than it has taken me to write this, the ants left the cake and table. I immediately took the hint, and put walnut shelves in my closets, and since that time there has not been an insect seen."

VENGEFUL RESOLUTION.—BOSTON, Sept. 18.—A convention of the soldiers and sailors of Massachusetts, was held in Faneuil Hall to day for the purpose of adopting measures to secure the equalization of all bounties to soldiers of Massachusetts, and to secure to loyal men and their posterity the fruits of the late war. N. P. Banks was chosen President, and among the Vice Presidents were Gens. B. F. Butler and Bartlet. The convention was addressed by Gen. Banks, and the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That treason should be made odious, and that the authors should be punished. That in the name of our starved and murdered brothers at Andersonville, in the name of our slaughtered brothers on every battle field, in the name of the widows and orphans, in the name of American liberty and of American justice, we protest against the pardon and release of Jefferson Davis. We protest against the insulting leniency that feasts and pampers a blood-stain traitor, who should occupy a felons' cell, and live or die on felon's fare; and we demand that he be brought to trial for crimes and treason without delay; that he be convicted and that he be hung.

GEN. GRANT AND THE PITTSBURG CONVENTION.—"L. Edwin Dudley, Esq., Chairman Executive Committee Soldiers' and Sailors' Union: Sir—Gen. Grant directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your invitation to be present at a 'National Convention of Soldiers and and Sailors to be held at Pittsburg, Pa., September 25th, 1866,' for political purposes. He instructs me to say it is contrary to his habit and to his convictions of duty to attend political meetings of any character whatever, and that he sees with regret the action of any officer of the army taking a conspicuous part in the political dissensions of the day.

I am sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
ADAM BADEAU.
Colonel and A. D. C.

Headquarters Armies United States, Washington, D. C. September the 18th, 1866."

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.—The next North Carolina Conference of the Methodist E. Church, South, will commence its session in Fayetteville, on Wednesday, November the 7th. next. Bishop Pierce will preside. Some have desired a change in the time of meeting, but after consultation it has been deemed best that the original appointment of the Bishops should remain. The press of the State will please notice.—Sentinel

FROM LOUISIANA AND TEXAS.—Dispatches from New Orleans on Monday states that the cholera continues to rage among the negroes on the Louisianr plantations. Accounts from the cotton crops are unfavorable.

A proposition made in the Texas Legislature to cede a large tract of land, including the Brazos river country, to form an Indian reservation meets with much opposition.

HORRID DEATH OF A RADICAL.—One of the convicts of the Western (Pa.) Penitentiary, named Holmes, on Thursday morning indulged in the most blasphemous language, cursing everybody, cursing Christ, cursing God and pronouncing God the author of all sin, and ridiculing the Bible. While uttering his blasphemies he was suddenly struck down with apoplexy and remained unconscious until he died at 12 o'clock, noon, on Friday.

Facts vs. Theories.

"Give me a place to rest my lever on," says Archimedes, "and I will move the world." "Give me pure and unadulterated drugs," says Medicus, of the olden time, "and I will cure disease."

In one sense, both of these learned pundits were the veriest charlatans. They knew there was no place to rest their lever on, either to move the world or cure disease. Mechanism was in a backward state, and the medical profession was but another name for sorcery, and all the adjuncts of magic filters and charms of the "evil eye," &c.

But these latter days have borne unto us something more than even superstition and its crew ever dreamt of in their maddest philosophy. In these days of practical science, what was theory of yesterday is fact to-day, and all the old time notions become as bubbles in the sun, and burst, and break with every breath we draw.

Let Archimedes shoulder his lever and we will find a resting place for it to move the world. Let mine ancient Medicus pant and toil no more for the drugs he so sorely needs, for we have them at our hand, ever ready to serve them at his beck.

Refined in the laboratory of Dr. Maggiel, the finest materials known in the medical profession are obtainable by any one. His Bilious, Dyspeptic, and Diarrhea Pills stand unrivalled, and his Salve operates with magical effect upon burns, scalds, and all sores and ulcers of the skin.

In fact, we think Maggiel's Pills and Salve are the wonder of this century, and we are happy in the thought that many others of our brethren of the craft agree with us. We would earnestly counsel that all families provide themselves with Dr. Maggiel's Preparations at once, and keep them ready at hand, so as to use them at the most opportune time and as occasion serves.—Valley Sentinel.

It is a long while since the city was so animtted as it is at present. There is no running off out of town now on Saturdays, the hot weather being disposed of, and for the first time in a long while, the mansions of the rich folks in the up town avennes are thrown open for parties, receptions and the like. Next week at least half a dozen fashionable weddings are on tapis, and Brown the Grace Church Sexton, says he is kept as busy as a bee, night and day, preparing cards, sending out invitations &c. A Great deal is making of Madame Ristori, but as yet nobody has been fortunate enough to induce her to accept an invitation to "spend the evening" Politics interfere with fashion a little, in so far as the masculine gender are kept out late of nights attending mass meetings; but as the country must be attended to as well as fashion, the politics must be endured.

The merchants generally give good account of the fall trade, which is still very active. Some of the dry goods houses have their clerks and other employees at work until long after midnight filling orders. The Charleston and Savannah steamers leaving to day had to refuse some freight. The hotel, are all full and running over, from the big houses in Broadway down to the little roosting places in Courtland street. The same observation holds good as to the theatres and other places of public amusement. In short, everybody, for once, is making money.

The National Military Asylum to be erected in Milwaukie, Wisconsin, will be located on a tract of about 500 acres. The building will be capable of accommodating from 10,000 to 15,000 inmates, and will cost nearly $1,000,000. The asylum will be placed in charge of disabled officers, and will be for the accommodation of all disabled Union officers and soldiers of the late war. Two other similar institutions are to be established in other localities, under the act of Congress.

MARRIAGE OF A CHOCTAW BELLE.—An Arkansas paper states that a gentleman was lately married to a Choctaw belle, Miss Kathelanosno-he, daughter of "Black Cloud," Caddo chief. The lady is described as a full-blooded Caddo, above six feet in stature, very comely, and straight as one of the pines of our Northern wilderness. She is, like her race, fond of ornaments, which she partly manufactures herself from natural curiosities, adorned by her skillful and native embroidery. The bride wore more than a pound weight of silver decorations amid her hair alone, "and her voice is as sweet as the morning carols of a bird."

SOMETHING
UNDER THE SUN!
A New Era in Medicine.

To all who have been given up as incurable, and all who can believe facts [illegible], read the following:

Be it known by these Presents, that on this the twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Hardy, to me, known as an honest man, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for the proprietors of medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies of the letters in his possession, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief.

H. S. J. JAMES SMITTER,
Notary Public, Wall St., N. Y.

June 1, 1866.

Dr. Maggiel: I take my pen to write you of my great relief, and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, as I am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS, 116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhea, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt st.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an iron foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burned dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident:

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an iron founder; I was badly burned by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal. I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 3d avenue. J. HARDY, 119 Goerick st.

Extracts from Various Letters.

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to a babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I inclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your Pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

☞ I have over two hundred such testimonials as this, but want of space compels me to conclude. J. MAGGIEL, M. D.

FOR BILLIOUS DISORDERS
Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once; and the usual concomitants of this most distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS,
They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect to prescribed doses to the youngest babe.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS
And all eruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

Apology.

In our leader yesterday on the Hayden Convention we were made to write R. J. Jackson of Gaston as one of the sympathizers in that concern. If there is a man in that county of that name, we humbly beg his pardon, and hope he will not institute a suit of slander against us until he hears of our excuse. We wrote the name T. A. Jenkins of Gaston—and our or some other "devil" caused the type to do an innocent and unoffending man a great wrong. We admit that to say a man of common respectability was a delegate to that convention ought to be actionable, and as we cannot plead justification we must, by way of "confession and avoidance," make this apology.

It is not our habit to shirk responsibility yet in this instance the offence is so heinous that we must throw it all on the "devil," where it justly belongs. So Mr. Jackson, you will please accept our explanation and apology.

DE FACTO GOVERNMENTS—INTERESTING DECISION OF JUDGE THOMAS.—In the Circuit Court on Wednesday last, says the Warrenton, Va. Index of Saturday, Judge Thomas delivered a lengthy and able opinion upon the much mooted question of the validity and binding effect of land sales made during the war in consideration of Confederate treasury notes and the purchase money. The question arose in the case of William A. Stewart and George W. Palmer vs. James Hankins in unlawful detainer. Judge Thomas holds said sales to be binding, and after discussing the various points raised by the arguments of counsel, said in substance:

"Upon the whole, I conclude that the Confederate as well as the Government of Virginia at Richmond were, to say the least, during their existence, de facto governments; and that the contracts of the citizens and subjects of those governments, who were at the time of contracting sui juris, must be enforced by the means afforded of the de jure government; and when they have been executed by such parties according to the laws of the de facto government, the de jure government that has superceded them will not annul them."

BAD STATE OF THINGS IN TEXAS.—It is estimated, says the New York Times, that one thousand persons have arrived at Galveston and Houston to escape the persecutions of guerrillas in the interior, who rob and plunder on all sides indiscriminately for plunder. The affairs throughout the State are daily becoming worse instead of better, and innumerable outrages are hourly reported.

"I have not loved lightly," as the man said when he married a woman weighing three hundred pounds.

The Democrats made a decided gain in the Vermont Legislature; they have elected thirteen representatives, and last year they had only eleven. On the whole vote of the State they gain 8,

Anniversary of the Battle of Chickamauga.

GRANITEVILLE, S. C., Sept. 20, 1866.

How sad a day to many hearts! What painful memories cluster around the name of CHICKAMAUGA!! How many hopes were laid down in the dust that day, together with the brave hearts and bright spirits who went forth that Sunday morning to meet their fate! Three years of patient waiting have passed by; and many more will pass before the tears are dried that learned to flow that day.

Our noble dead!—we glory in them still, and the unveiled future will do justice to them all. We are but mourners now, over our hopes, our country and our dead, but the eternal principles of Truth and Right for which we strove, for which we gave our all will yet prevail, and from the dust of buried hopes shall arise in all their strength the PRINCIPLES for which we battled. THEY never change. Men change and pass away, but though the clouds of disaster have settled on our cause, we did what we believed it was our duty to do. Let that thought cheer us in our low estate. Our dead are happier than we. They mourn not over their fallen hopes. Let them repose in peace. Lay on their graves the "Furled Banner" which never must wave again! Strew flowers over IT and THEM, and go forth strong in hope and faith to meet our future, knowing that in the sacred discharge of DUTY there is a Higher Power to sustain and comfort us.

"Time rules us all," but there is a power above time, and an hour is surely coming when "TIME SHALL BE NO LONGER." Prepare for it.

A Convention of Capitalists.

[From the Richmond Dispatch.]

If the Radicals succeed in the fall elections, Congress will undertake to impeach the President next winter.

The President does not believe that the House of Representatives as at present constituted has any right or power to present articles of impeachment against him, nor that the Senate can constitutionally try him.

Congress, therefore will not be allowed by the President to impeach him. We take this for granted. He will not surrender his position at the bidding of a body which he firmly and conscientiously believes to be unconstitutional in its organization, and revolutionary in its tendency.

Congress, however, professes to believe that it has an undoubted right to impeach the President, and remove him from office. That body, therefore, will be likely to insist upon what it considers to be its rights.

A conflict will be inevitable under the circumstances. The President will call upon the military for supports Generals Steedman, Sherman, Fullerton, Custar, Dix, Wool, and hundred. of others of the best Generals in the army will unquestionably rally to the support of the President. An equally large number will support the the pretensions of Congress. Civil war cannot well be avoided unless one party or the other to this conflict shall surrender its position.

The bonds and treasury notes of the United States would become worthless as soon as such a conflict had been begun Capitalists are therefore deeply interested in preventing so deplorable an event. If the Radicals shall be defeated in the fall elections in the Northern States, there will in that case be no danger of a disturbance of the peace of the country. That this desirable result can be brought about if proper efforts be made, there is some reason to hope.

It is believed that capitalists have both the will and the power, by combining their influence to defeat the Radicals at the coming election.

We propose, therefore, that the capitalists of the country hold a convention at an early day, and agree upon a plan of combined action. They can exercise a powerful influence upon the voters of the North. Let them consider the proposition.

A FABLE.—A young man once picked up a sovereign lying in the road. Ever afterwards, as he walked along, he kept his eyes steadfastly fixed on the ground, in hopes of finding another. And in the course of a long life, he did pick up, at different times, a good amount of gold and silver. But all these days, as he was looking for them, he saw not that heaven was bright above him, and nature beautiful around. He never once allowed his eyes to look up from the mud and filth in which he sought the treasure, and when he died, a rich old man, he only knew this fair earth of ours as a dirty road to pick up money as you walk along.

Henry Mordecai, Esq., of Raleigh, has presented the Ladies' Memorial Society with a beautiful lot for a cemetery.

If you want to get a favor of a man feed him. A man, like a horse, cannot be managed until he has a bit in his mouth.

The indifference of the people to the approaching elections is the subject of universal comment. They seem to think Republicanism "played out."

Cotton picking is in full operation in this county, and has been for a week or more. The yield, if not very plentiful, promises to be of the very best quality. —Wadesboro' Argus.

Southern Exile.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM HON. JACOB TOMPSON.

We find the following very interesting litter from Hon. Jacob Tompson, of Mississippi, in the Oxford Falcon, of last week:

DUBLIN, IRELAND, August 11, 1866.

To Captain William Delany:

MY DEAR SIR: Your interesting letter of the 16th ult. was received by me on yesterday, and the only way in which I can manifest the unqualified pleasure it gives me is by making you an immediate reply. I never knew until I was cast out an exile, without home, or country, and apparently without friends, how necessary to human happiness is human sympathy. A stranger in a strange land, caring for nobody nobody daring caring for me, I determined, for my pleasure and improvement, to visit the principal scenes of historic interest, and thus familiarize myself with the story of those who had gone before me. I went to Paris, which, take it all in all is the pleasantest city in the world, and there remained until I could re-read her history and learn something of the French language. Then I went to Switzerland and visited the retreats of different distinguished exiles, who in the violence of party, had been driven from their country to this place of quiet and safety. I went to Rome, the home of the greatest men and purest patriots, whose history adorns the annals of the past, and there I remained two moths, industriously employed all the time in examining the ruins of former greatness and grandeur, never feeling the slightest interest in the living; but absorbed with thoughts, principales and actions of the mighty dead. Then I went to the delightful city of Naples, delightful for its climate and situation, not for its people; here was the seat of royalty now in banishment. Then to Egypt, the cradle of letters and learning; then to Palestine, to tread the ground our Saviour trod, to see the places where he performed his glorious works, to climb the sides of Mount Olivet, to stand on Mount calvary, drink waters the from the pool of Siloam, and gaze upon the tomb where they laid his body and which could only retain it for its appointed time. From here I think I came away a better man. I returned through the Greek isles, of vast interest to the student, up the Adriatic to Venice, a most singular place with a most marvelous hitory. Thence through Vienna, Munich, Frankfort, Cologne and Brussels to Paris again. Here Mrs. Thompson left—yearning to see the land we both had loved, and love still; but I could not go with her, and why? Was it because I feared to meet there the penalties of offended law? Was it because trials might be institued and proofs be procued which would affix a stigma upon my name? No! it was because I felt that there was no constitution or law in the South for the protection of my rights. It was because the arbitrary will of an officer guided by prejudice and passion, which have been excited by the grossest slanders and foulest falsehoods, might arrest, incarcerate, and in a thousand ways annoy me, and I could have no remedy. When rights are restored; when the military office becomes subject to law, and for any violation of the rights of the citizens, the courts who have the power to inflict upon him condign punishment, then will I be happy to return and take my old friends by the hand; for I assure you, that with all her faults, I love my country. There is no other such country in the world. I have visited every kingdom and people which have any position among the nations of earth, and with the intention—if ever I could find an acceptable place—to settle down and gather my little family about me, and there in quiet spend the remnant of my days; but I find no place in which I am willing to leave my family. No for good or evil, the best country is the United States, and if there could be only security of person, property and reputation, it would be the most desirable country on earth. At all events, those dependent on me, I want them to remain and abide the fate and destiny of their country. What shall become of me is but of little consequence, my days of usefulness are past. My sun is fast hastening to its setting, but my will shall be that when life's fitful fever is over, my body shall be buried beneath the soil which has been fattened with the blood of my ancestors in the struggle for its independence. With these feeling you can easily imagine how highly I appreciate any evidence of kindness and good will from those who are to keep vigils over my grave. Your petition is well intended. I am thankful to each an every one who signed it. I regard it as friendship's offbring; but I fear it will be unavailing. Indeed, in will be of no use. Mr. Johnson is or may be disposed, but yielding to the suggestion of a deep designing malignancy on the part of others, he has inflicted upon me gross injustice; he has inflicted upon me a grievous wrong in denouceing me as an escaped felon. I believe he knows and feels it, but I fear he is like all other men; the more groundless the reasons for his injury, the more obstinate he will be in refusing to make reparation. Moreover, the president cannot act for fear of the Radicals, if he were ever so well despose. I would be unwilling to embarrass him with anything on my account, for I honestly believe if he succeeds there is some hope of the country. If he falls, the Constitution is buried, civil rights will become by-words, and a deep gloom of inevitable darkness hangs over the destiny of the greatest people in the world. I weigh not my own fate as a feather in the balance; I only hope to live until I shall have power under the law to prosecute the perjury and inflict punishment upon those who have wronged me. And although I have knelt at the tomb of our Saviour, yet I fear that the punishment that awaits the evil doer in the next world will be too long in its coming.

Your friend,
J. THOMPSON.

Arrest of a Mail Agent on the Charge of Murder Committed while Acting as Provost Marshal.

CINCINNATI, September 22.—The steamer General Buell, mail packet between this city and Louisville, was boarded at Warsaw, Kentucky, night before last, by two or three hundred men, who forcibly seized C. W. Ferris, United States mail agent, and took him ashore. Ferris was Provost Marshal at Warsaw during the war, and was instrumental in the execution of two guerillas by order of General Burbridge.

The Gazette and Commercial say he was arrested without a warrant, while the engineer affirms that a true bill had been found against him by the grand jury of Carroll County for murder.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, September 22.—The President has decided that in consequence of the pressure of public business he will hereafter be obliged to decline receiving any committee or delegations whose principle object is to present programmes for removals and appointments to office. All such business must necessarily be referred to the appropriate departments of the Government for attention.

By General Order No. 77 from the War Department, the headquarters of the Department of Tennessee is transferred from Nashville, Tennessee, to Louisville, Kentucky. Brevet Major General Robinson, commanding the Department of North Carolina, having been granted leave of absence, has transferred the command temporarily to Brevet Brigadier General N. Goff, Colonel 37th Regiment United States Colored Troops.

James R. Hood, formerly of the Chatanooga Gazette, has been appointed Secretary to Colorado Territory.

The difficulty between the United States, Brazil and Argentine Republic, in reference to Mr. Washburn, our Minister to Paraguay, passing through the military lines of the allied army, has been adjusted.

The United States Government notified them if they persisted in their refusal it would be regarded as a violation of internation custom and courtesy. These representations had the desired effect, and Washburn was allowed to proceed.

A large number of prominent supporters of the President's policy from Maine and New Hampshire are here, urging the President to remove certain Government officers in those States who are bitterly opposed to his administration.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN!

A New Era in Medicine!

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these Presents, that on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Roy, dock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for the preparations of medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JUNE 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL: I take my pen to write you of my great relief, and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and I am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS, 116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhea, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt st.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an iron foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burned dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident:

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy: I am an iron founder; I was badly burned by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2d avenue. J. HARDY, 119 Goerick st.

Extracts from Various Letters.

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headace that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I inclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your Pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

☞ I have over two hundred such testimonials as this, but want of space compels me to conclude. J. MAGGIEL, M. D.

FOR BILLIOUS DISORDERS

Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once; and the usual concomitants of this most distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS.

They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed doses to the youngest babe.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS

And all eruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS

Invariably cure the following diseases.

Asthma,
Bowel Complaints,
Coughs,
Colds,
